

Wholesome Romance of the Foreign Legion At Torrance Theatre Tonight

Every man dreamed of her burning caresses, but she gave them to a man who loved another! In 20th Century's "Under Two Flags", CLAUDETTE COLBERT rises to new dramatic heights in the lead feminine role opposite RONALD COLMAN.

New Romantic Screen Team

A new romantic screen team is that formed by John Arledge and Louise Latimer in featured roles of "Two In Revolt," a unique motion picture drama of the friendship between a police dog and a thoroughbred horse. Shown next Wednesday only at the Torrance Theatre.

Arledge, a Texan who enacts his first screen lead in "Two In Revolt," has been in Hollywood for some time, and recently attracted much attention for his performance in "Shipmates Forever," and on the stage in "Tobacco Road."

Miss Latimer, with one film role to her credit, has been scoring heavily in Eastern stage vehicles, including the Broadway presentations of "When In Rome" and "Bring on the Girls." Arriving in Hollywood to fulfill her RKO contract, she was chosen by Director Glenn Tryon for the feminine lead in "Two In Revolt."

A pretentious animal cast is also seen in "Two In Revolt," headed by Lightning, a German shepherd dog, and Warrior, a pedigreed Arabian stallion. In their support are more than 200 wild horses, 20 koi-dogs, a bear and sundry other quadrupeds.

Foreign Legion Depicted In Picture Now At Plaza

Treachery within the lines of the French Foreign Legion adds further suspense to 20th Century's "Under Two Flags," in which Claudette Colbert, co-starred with Ronald Colman, finds romance and adventure amid the sands of the Sahara. The picture opens today for its first showing at the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne.

Plaza to Show Gay, Vivacious Comedy, "Little Miss Nobody"

Bubbling with laughter and bursting with song, roguish Jane Withers comes Sunday to the Plaza Theatre, Hawthorne, in her joyous new Fox hit, "Little Miss Nobody."

The picture follows the adventures of a merry orphan thru a series of escapades. Featured in the strong supporting cast are Jane Darwell, Ralph Morgan, Sara Haden, Harry Carey and Betty Jean Hainey.

Jane is a mischievous, nameless orphan who wins "Trouble" for her first name. She tries—oh, so hard—to be good, but only succeeds in getting in bad.

Her heart is as big as the sky, and many of her scrapes arise directly from the fact that she is constantly trying to shield her bosom pal, Betty Jean. Jane even goes so far, when her real father appears to claim her, as to switch identities with the other little girl to save her from being adopted by an arrogant, newly-rich woman.

This proves Jane's undoing, however, for the matrons of the institution misconstrue her act. She is sent to the reformatory.

En route there she makes her escape and finds refuge in a pet shop owned by an escaped convict, Harry Carey.

Jane confesses the entire story to him and he, won by her generosity, arranges a secret meeting with Betty Jean who is living nearby. "Dutch," another criminal who is blackmailing Carey because of his past, overhears the conversation and locks Carey in a closet, intending to ransack Betty Jean's house.

How Jane contrives to outwit the crook and win happiness for herself and all those who aided and loved her, makes her finest film to date.

"Then Came the Indians," a rollicking new song hit, presents Jane with the opportunity to sing, dance and perform her inimitable clowning. The music was composed by Jack Stern and Henry H. Tobias, and the lyrics authored by Harry Tobias and Sidney Clare. John Blystone directed "Little Miss Nobody" with Sol M. Wurtzel in charge of the production. The screen play was written by Lou Breslow, Paul Burger and Edward Ellis, based on "The Matron's Report" by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan.

tion picture fans who tirelessly followed Ronald Colman in "Beau Geste" and adored Claudette Colbert in "It Happened One Night," will find a great new treat in store for them in "Under Two Flags." It is the picture which brings together two titans of the screen in roles that surpass their past triumphs.

Produced under the direct supervision of Darryl F. Zanuck, the drama of surging power, tumultuous love and searing conflict set in the Sahara comes tonight, Friday and Saturday to the Torrance Theatre.

Miss Colbert plays the role of "Cigarette" in this adaptation of Ouida's immortal story of the French Foreign Legion. A lovely flirt, she toys with the affections of Victor McLaglen, Legionnaire major, until she meets Colman, a member of the ranks. Then she impulsively loses her heart to him.

The drama gains in power and intensity with the appearance of Rosalind Russell, fragile English beauty. Before he is sent out to the desert to help stem an Arab revolt, Colman has declared his love for her.

Hemmed in by hostile forces, McLaglen venturously attempts to destroy Colman, whom he believes stands between himself and Miss Colbert. But Colman saves his force by a daring ruse, and a magnificent charge of the Legion, led by Miss Colbert, results in the defeat of the Arab forces.

The magnificent supporting cast of 40 character stars includes such prominent players as Gregory Ratoff, Nigel Bruce, C. Henry Gordon and J. Edward Bromberg. Frank Lloyd directed this unusual spectacle with its thousands of extras and its sweeping and magnificent natural backgrounds.

Play 500 Years Old
NAPOLÉON, O. (U.P.)—A play 500 years old, "Everyman," was presented by a First Presbyterian church cast here.

Hero of 'Dancing Pirate' In Training

Assigned to the title role in "Dancing Pirate," shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Torrance Theatre, Charles Collins assiduously practiced himself in swordsmanship. Already well versed in terpsichore thru his Broadway musical comedy experience, Collins became the pupil of Emile, who has been handling the foils for 20 years, is showing Collins how to dodge the lunge of a villainous opponent. Collins is co-featured with Frank Morgan and Steffi Duna in Pioneer Pictures' dancing musical produced in the new 100% technicolor.

The picture features a hilarious series of embarrassing situations encountered by Frank Morgan, as the Alcade of a Spanish pueblo, and by Charles Collins in the title role adventuring in a romance with Steffi Duna. Collins, regarded as the screen find of the season, is fresh from many great triumphs on the stages of New York and London. Morgan's portrayal is said to rival his "Duke" in "The Affairs of Cellini."

Others in the cast include Luis Alberni, Victor Vareoni, Jack LaRue and the Royal Casino family, together with 50 famous dancing artists.

Prodigy

David Manning, 7-year-old Sawtelle, Cal., youth, whose knowledge of chemistry is said to equal that of a third year university student.

Oukrainy Ballet at Bowl

Hollywood Bowl's second week of Symphonies Under the Stars marks the farewell of Ernest Ansermet, Swiss maestro, the American debut of Steuermann, Polish pianist, and the appearance of the Serge Oukrainyky ballet.

Oukrainyky is coming to the bowl Thursday, July 16 for the third consecutive season. His past performances have won many friends among dance lovers. For his current attraction he will present his 50 dancers in "The Captive Princess," a fanciful ballet and the Gypsy dances, with music by Bizet.
